Candidates Invited to Advocate
Their Own
Election

STARTING with tomorrow's edition, we will inaugurate a candidates' column.

This column will be open to all candidates and they may through this column advise voters of their qualifications and fitness for the offices for which they are running.

The Glendale Daily Press, recognizing the importance of electing men who are qualified to handle the city's business, has started this column with the desire of posting the voters as to the fitness of the several candidates.

THERE is no contest in the election to the board of education, but the councilman race is arousing a great deal of interest, as there are seven candidates for the two vacancies.

It is most probable that one of the men we select for councilman will be our next mayor and we should elect those best fitted to represent the citizenship of our city. It has been the procedure in the past for the council to elect from their membership the one who received the largest vote.

THE city council is still hesitating over joining in the Clean-up Week campaign now being promoted by the Civics Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. We can see no responsible excuse for the council's side-stepping such an important campaign as this. Clean-up weeks have become national in scope and are of much benefit to any community.

We would suggest that every organization and citizen of Glendale co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce to make Glendale a spotless town. This can be done at such a time, as will leave a lasting impression with visitors who attend the coming Industrial Exposition.

WE are advised that there is some probability of the Glendale sewer proposition coming up today for consideration of the Los Angeles city council. If this proves true, we will know before long just how we stand on the sewer question. Regardless of the Los Angeles council's action, we do know that the proposition has been handled in an efficient way. After a careful study of the different propositions by one of the most efficient engineers available, a plan was presented to the Los Angeles council, which, while requesting permission to run a sewer line through a portion of their city, also in return granted the city of Los Angeles the privilege of connecting up to our line for the use of the district it went through.

With a plan of co-operation such as this, we feel confident that the Los Angeles city council will grant our request and Glendale can go ahead with her building program, without much worry for the future.

HOSPITAL TO BE OPENED IN LA CRESCENTA

Dr. J. T. Utley of Los Angeles Buys Pinney Place

LA CRESCENTA, April 4.—Dr. J. T. Utley of Los Angeles purchased the G. H. Pinney place on North Ridge avenue recently. The property consists of ten acres highly improved and a home. Dr. Utley is making extensive improvements in his purchase, converting the home into a general hospital, adding a number of rooms and an operating room. From a point of climate and scenery this location is one of the best in the valley and an ideal place for a hospital.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH BEGINS TO SHAPE ITS OUTLINE AND PROPORTIONS

Divisions of Space and Size Gradually Emerging From the Preliminary Falsework and Structure Is Rising to Beautiful Proportions

LARGEST BASEMENT IN SO. CALIFORNIA

Two Huge Halls With Kitchen Connections Will Give Room for Banquets of One Thousand Persons Without Any Crowding

The fine new Glendale Presbyterian church at the corner of Harvard and Louise has now reached a stage where even those uninitiated in building can sense its great proportions and divisions of space.

The huge first floor or basement is said to be bigger than that of any other church in Southern California and it will all be available for social purposes. It will consist for the most part of two huge halls, both of which will have access to the kitchen at the rear, so that if necessary the entire space can be utilized for a banquet at which 1000 persons can sit down. The room on the west side will contain a great fire place which will promote a social atmosphere and it is probable the young people's organizations will make great use of it.

Centering the building is a court open to sky, which will be beautified with palms and which will afford light to the interior of the building. Through this court, reached from the Harvard street side, can be entered the Sunday school departments on the left and the Bible study at the far end of the court, and from it stairways lead above and below.

The Sunday school provisions have been planned with a view to attendance in units of thousands instead of hundreds. Each department has its assembly and class rooms either on the first or second floor and an office for its enrolling class secretary. At the front of the wing on Harvard is the office of the church and pastor, which is to be open every day in the week, with secretary in attendance; but for his study and private retreat the pastor will have the first or ground floor room of the great tower which will rise to a height of eight or nine stories above the entrance. It will be an ideal sanctuary about 20 feet square, containing fireplace and book shelves and a window in which Dr. Edmonds plans to place a memorial to his mother.

On the Sunday school side of the church is the women's parlor and another apartment which can be thrown into it when occasion requires and at the end is a kitchenette to be used for the serving of light refreshments on social occasions. A similar suite is found on the second floor, and over all in the attic will be built a pleasant apartment for a caretaker and his wife, who will have charge of the building.

The main auditorium will seat 500 and the horseshoe gallery at the rear an additional 400. The rostrum is large and behind it a recess for a pipe organ. At the left is a sessions room for meetings of church officials. While the main entrance to the auditorium is near the corner on the Harvard street side, an inclined entrance on Louise has been provided for the use of invalids who come in wheeled chairs or who find it hard to mount steps. The auditorium can also be entered from the central court referred to.

It will be beautified by eight tall memorial windows besides two of arrival and departure for the whole of the Wilshire district, Santa Monica, Hollywood districts, by way of the new Hyperion boulevard.

The next meeting of the Santa Monica board of trade will be held at the Woman's Clubhouse at Sawtelle at 7:30 o'clock on the evening of April 16.

The subject of the new Southern Pacific depot on Brand boulevard, proved interesting to the organization and it was forcibly shown by the delegates from Glendale, P. J. Hayselden and Harry White, that when completed, this new depot will be the most popular point of arrival and departure for the whole of the Wilshire district, Santa Monica, Hollywood districts, by way of the new Hyperion boulevard.

None of the windows will open, the air, which will be washed and warmed or cooled as the season demands being pumped in by a very modern distributing system, such as is used in the larger theaters.

While Architect Orr has general supervision of the work of construction and materials purchased, the watchdog of the job is Mr. McDill, the business manager, who has had much experience along that line.

Instead of being let under a general contract the work has been apportioned under segregated contracts and, according to Dr. Edmonds, that system and the economy exercised in purchasing materials has reduced the cost about $50,000 below the bid of one general contractor whose figures were secured. Nevertheless it will cost in the neighborhood of $225,000, and the monthly construction bills are averaging about $12,000. When completed, the church will feel it has gotten its money's worth and not a cent has been wasted. It will also feel, says Dr. Edmonds, that it has a permanent home of fire-proof construction that will be good for many, many years, if not for all time.

Not before Christmas does it expect to occupy the auditorium, but the Sunday school session will be ready within a few months.

MRS. CHARLES H. TOLL ELECTED DISTRICT HEAD

Unopposed As Candidate for President of L. A. Federation

As indicated yesterday by the Glendale Daily Press, Mrs. Charles H. Toll was unopposed for election as president of the Los Angeles district Federation of Women's Clubs at San Luis Obispo.

The election coming unanimously, was a fitted tribute to one of Glendale's leading women, vice president of the Community Service, state trustee of the state school for girls at Ventura and, former member of the Glendale school board, and one time president of the Ebell club of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Toll has been identified with every movement for the betterment of Glendale and her election comes as a signal recognition of her executive ability, long recognized in Glendale.

Mrs. Toll will leave for Louisville shortly to address the National Congress of Mothers and Parent Teachers' convention and the convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at Atlanta, Ga., in May, next.

COMMUNITY SING IS PLANNED FOR NEXT TUESDAY EVENING

At a meeting of the music committee of Glendale Community Service held yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, plans were outlined for the next big community sing, which will take place at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, April 10, at the high school auditorium. The program will be announced later.

HYPERION BOULEVARD IS APPROVED

Communities Are Getting Behind the Road to the Beaches

The extension of Santa Monica boulevard through Hyperion avenue to the proposed intersection that thoroughfare with Glendale boulevard at the Los Angeles river, is meeting with the hearty endorsement of the Santa Monica Board of Trade. A resolution was passed by this organization at a meeting held in the headquarters of the Sherman Chamber of Commerce, Monday night, asking that the city bodies along Santa Monica boulevard should get behind this proposition. The resolution also endorsed the construction of a new combined bridge and viaduct to replace the present Ivanhoe bridge at Glendale boulevard.

The subject of the new Southern Pacific depot on Brand boulevard, proved interesting to the organization and it was forcibly shown by the delegates from Glendale, P. J. Hayselden and Harry White, that when completed, this new depot will be the most popular point of arrival and departure for the whole of the Wilshire district, Santa Monica, Hollywood districts, by way of the new Hyperion boulevard.

SCHOOL BOARD TO EMPLOY LOCAL ARCHITECTS

Decide Lindsey and Priest Shall Work on New and Remodelled Units

The greater part of the session of the Board of Education held Tuesday evening was devoted to a discussion of the number of architects who should be employed to facilitate work in connection with the city school building program.

Communications had been received from a number of Glendale architects who have not heretofore received commissions for school work, also from Los Angeles architects, but action was confined to a vote to have George Lindsey plan the next unit at the Acacia avenue school, and to have Alfred Priest continue the building program which he began at Columbus avenue. Further action was deferred until the next meeting of the board.

Members cheerfully signed a petition from the Grand View district asking the city council to change the name of "Fifth street" on which the school property joins, to "Oakland road."

A proposition which had been received from the Barnum-Walters company, subdividers of Spurr Heights, to reduce the price of the proposed school site $1000 provided payment was made in cash June 1, when proceeds from sale of bonds would be available, was accepted, subject to the sale of the bonds.

An educational thrift system to promote saving among school children based on deposit books and coupons, and which had been demonstrated at the previous meeting, was considered, and permission was given to introduce it into schools where principals desired it, but not into schools in which trash machines have been installed.

The resignation of Mrs. Jessie M. Clay, kindergarten director at Cerritos avenue school, was accepted and the board voted to have Mrs. John Cate, now assistant kindergarten teacher at Columbus avenue made director at Cerritos. The employment of an assistant at Columbus avenue was left to Mr. White and the teachers' committee.

Alice Hill has chosen Daniel Webster as the inspiration of her effort. Don McMillan has preferred Alexander Hamilton. Others competing with them will be Margaret Majors, Phronse Jean Thompson and Ruth James.

$50,000 TO BE SPENT BY SO. CAL. GAS

R. S. Cheatham, Glendale Manager of Valley, Makes Announcement

TO LAY MANY MAINS

Eight Miles of Line to Be Laid During the Summer

R. S. Cheatham, Glendale manager of the San Fernando valley division of the Southern California Gas company, made public today the company's plans for 1923 for the improvement of its distributing system in the San Fernando valley. A careful study of the rapid growth of the territory served and the increasing demands upon the company's facilities have made it apparent that the coming year's consumption of gas will greatly exceed the amount consumed in the past.

To keep pace with this increasing demand for gas a sum of $50,000 will be expended during the summer months to lay the mains necessary to reinforce the pressure and to carry an additional supply of gas. Altogether, there are to be eight miles of mains laid, ranging in size from 6 inches to 24 inches.

Mr. Cheatham said that these expenditures are entirely for service conditions and that it will be necessary to expend a larger sum in order to connect up additional consumers who may desire service.

LITERARY SECTION HEARS LECTURE ON INDIANS

"Our American Indians, Their Legends, Songs and Dances," was the topic for one of the most interesting meetings of the literary section of the Tuesday Afternoon club to be held this year, taking place yesterday at the club home at Central avenue and Lexington drive. The program opened with the members answering to roll call by naming an Indian tribe and giving some interesting incident regarding same.

An Indian war dance was given by Julia Pelly and Gould Moore, pupils of the Pearl Keller studio, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Gertrude Champlain Erb. A group of Indian songs were given by Mrs. Straith-Miller, "Where the Papoose Swings," "Breaking Light" (Cadman) and "The Thunderbird Comes From the Cedars" (Cadman). Mrs. E. W. W. Hayward gave some of the interesting Indian beliefs and legends. "The Fable of the Animals," which is one of the Zuni Indian legends, was given by Mrs. R. K. Snow. Mrs. Vernon Rapp gave some of the Hopi Indian legends, called "Traditions of Wandering." A most interesting talk on Hopi land was given by Mrs. H. C. Wilcox. This was followed by a vocal selection, "The Long Room of the Sea" (Cadman) by Mrs. Straith-Miller, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Erb.

At the close of the program refreshments of tea and wafers were served. The hostesses were Mrs. F. L. Hollingsworth, Mrs. R. F. Kitterman, Mrs. Homer Lockwood and Mrs. W. H. Verity. The next meeting of the section will be held in the tea room on April 17, when an all-American program will be given.

GLENDALE BUILDING PACE EQUALS LOS ANGELES TEN YEARS AGO, SAYS KEPPEL

County School Superintendent Declares the Record of $12,000,000 Yearly Was Considered Worth Boasting About in the Big City

SUBDIVISIONS BRING MANY NEW PROBLEMS

Possibility of Congestion Is Presented by the Rapid Settlement of New Areas Brought Under Home Building by Growing Population

In connection with an interview concerning new school buildings in Glendale, made necessary by the growth of the city, Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, remarked to Superintendent R. D. White upon the wonderful building record of Glendale for the past three months, saying that, strange as it might seem, it is about the pace of Los Angeles ten years ago. At that time a building record for the year of $12,000,000 to $14,000,000 was considered something to be quite proud of, he declared.

Superintendent White feels that the place will be pretty well maintained in the months to come because the board of education will have $380,000 to expend for buildings, and the current real estate activity in which desirable tracts are sold out almost over night, is certain to bring about the construction of many new homes.

Then there will also be new business blocks to be reckoned with, rumors of which are already in the air concerning, for example, the building with which a lot on Brand north of the MacMullin studio will be improved by Miss Baldwin, and the business structures planned for the Glendale Sanitarium frontage recently sold, without taking into account developments in the industrial center and on south San Fernando road.

While this is very satisfying to Mr. White's pride in his home town, new worries are beginning to assail him. If Glendale's building record of a million a month is maintained, what will become of the building program for city schools? Will next spring show just as great congestion as now because of tremendous increases in population?

VITAL PROBLEMS DISCUSSED BY W. A. HORN

Points to Need of Recreational Centers and Playground Activities

Lack of facilities for play and recreation are pointed out by W. A. Horn, candidate for city council, in a communication to the Glendale Daily Press, received today. Favoring active leadership in recreation, Mr. Horn tells of lessons he learned in 20 years of Y. M. C. A. work.

Editor Glendale Press:
I was glad to note your suggestion in last night's Press regarding the lack of facilities for play and recreation. This is truly a very vital matter to the future growth and development of our city. All work and no play, etc., applies to the older citizenry as well as the youth. If we are to take our place among the progressive citizens of our day, we must have play grounds and recreational centers, under wise leadership and supervision, and I feel that your suggestion of using some of the present facilities has many points of merit.

My experience of over 20 years as a general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. has proved to me that health and vigor, either in the youth or the older years, depends on giving some time away from this busy life of hurry at golf, tennis, hand or volley ball, bowling, etc.

I therefore hope that some real plans will be developed to carry the opportunity for this play and recreation to all parts of the city.

Sincerely yours,
W. A. HORN

LOCAL PLUNDER FOUND IN LOOT OF BURGLAR

East Elk Ave. Hide-out of H. E. Edmondson, Reveals Much Property

With the shooting of Harry E. Edmondson, 27, of 333 Summit street, Pasadena, but temporarily residing in an apartment on East Elk avenue, Glendale, yesterday afternoon by Pasadena police and pedestrians, the residents of Glendale, whose homes have been robbed during the past few weeks, are able to recover some of their valuables. Edmondson was shot while trying to escape after holding up Robert S. Allen at his home in Pasadena.

When Edmondson was taken to the Pasadena hospital last night it was thought he could not recover, and after being operated on this morning, he died at noon.

In Edmondson's apartment in this city, after his capture, were found several thousand dollars' worth of valuables. These included four gold watches, 6 gold stick pins with diamond settings, 6 diamond brooches, a number of gold chains, quite a few antique coins, a number of waists, dresses, coats, and other women's wearing apparel, and several hundred dollars in bills.

Chief of Police Fraser stated this morning that unquestionably some of the articles found in Edmondson's rooms belong to residents of this city. He is rounding up the people in Glendale whose homes have been robbed recently in an effort to have them go to Pasadena and try to identify some of the things found in the dead man's rooms, which are now being held by the Pasadena police.

Edmondson's wife of the confessed thief, who has been staying for the past several weeks in Salt Lake City, upon being notified, wired that she would return to Pasadena immediately. It is expected that she will arrive this afternoon.

It is believed that Edmondson worked in the trace of robbery single handed. No trace of anyone being connected with him has been found. Letters were found in his room from prominent people in Glendale, Los Angeles and Pasadena, who apparently did not surmise that Edmondson was following a life of crime.

BUSINESS WOMEN CARD PARTY IS ENJOYED

The card party given Tuesday night by Mrs. M. G. Smith of 311 South Central avenue for the Business and Professional Women's club proved a very delightful affair at which about fifty members and friends were entertained.

Seven prizes were bestowed—a first, second and third gentlemen's favor; The ladies who were this honored and the rewards of their skill were Miss Amelia Bingham, first prize, hand embroidered luncheon set; Miss Myrtle Knapp, fancy towel; Dr. Elizabeth Early, silver tea stand; Mrs. Virginia Freeman, basket of Easter eggs. The gentlemen who were winners in the order of their rank were Mr. Hadsett, gold stick pin; Mr. Addison, pack of cards; Dr. A. N. Early, box of candy.

Before the company settled down to "500" a program was given in which Dr. Laura Brown, president of the club, greeted members and their friends and explained the purpose of the organization. She then turned the program over to Mrs. Smith, the hostess, who called upon Miss Alta Arnold. She sang two German songs very beautifully, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Roberta Young. She was followed by Miss Alice Singleton, pianist of La Crescenta, a graduate of the Boston Conservatory of Music. Mrs. Margaret Kaeding gave an interesting little sketch of her experiences in the mining section of Nevada where she went as a bride with her husband, who is a mining engineer. She indicated the discipline of the life was in learning to forget the non-essentials, how broadminded, and how democratic socially, as the gambler, the minister, the farmer, cowboy and lawyer rubbed elbows. She also made a strong plea for the passage of the ballot proposition No. 7 at the coming municipal election, explaining it would determine whether the city council could carry out their desire of presenting to the local American Legion post the abandoned reservoir site at the head of Louise street, for a home for itself and other patriotic organizations.

Mrs. Nanno Woods accompanied by her daughter, Dorothy Woods, Miss Almira Bullock, and Mrs. West, contributed several numbers. Mrs. Woods reading two of her original poems: "Smile When Your Husband Comes Home," and "When You Get Home Tonight," the three other ladies giving a dance skit from the "Musical Review" which is to be put on at the Tuesday Afternoon club the 19th and 20th by the Community Players as a benefit for the local American Legion post, which was followed by a pianologue, "Fishing Romance," by Miss Woods.

Mrs. Smith was assisted in receiving and entertaining her guests by her daughter, Mrs. Ethel Ridell, by Mrs. Kirkman and other members of the club.

At the close of the evening refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

LA CRESCENTA TO HAVE ADDITIONAL WELL DRILLED

LA CRESCENTA, April 4.—The rapid increase of population in the La Crescenta valley is the incentive for the drilling of another well by the Crescenta Mutual Water company at their plant on Lowell and West Honolulu avenues. This will be the third well of the company, which they expect to have in operation in the early summer.

Love is probably the only thing that is more lives than a cat.

A Funeral Service

Is, perhaps, the most hallowed rite of religion. It shows the return of the soul from its earth-body to its Maker.

At this time no earthly thought should intrude. This is no time for jarring sound, no place for any accident, ill-advised movement or unforeseen interruption. Every movement must be planned—every accident forestalled. Nothing of this last sacred rite can be left to chance. Only experience should attend—and taste and tact of the highest kind—such as is included in our mortuary service.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF EAGLE ROCK CITY

APRIL BUILDING RECORD TO BE OF INTEREST

Speculation Prevalent As to How Far Annexation Will Affect Building

A new month started and a March building record to beat. April will be an interesting month to many who are already beginning to speculate on just how far annexation is going to affect the growth of Eagle Rock, in business and building. The permit taken out for the new bank buildings at Central and Colorado ran up the March total considerably.

H. A. Michel of Glendale recently took out a permit to build twelve garages. These will total $1800.

J. B. Broom & Company of 414 Packard street took out a permit for a 6-room residence to be built at 408 Packard street. This will cost $3000.

C. W. Rowe was issued a permit for a 3-room dwelling at 322 West Myrtle. This will cost $2,000. Another permit was issued to Mr. Rowe for E. F. Nair, 273 North Royal Drive. The permit granted permission to build a 5-room residence at 324 West Myrtle avenue at an estimated cost of $3,000.

John T. Bibb, Jr., was issued a permit for a 4-room residence and garage to be built for H. D. Puthoff at 161 North College View avenue at 151 College View avenue.

TWO NEW MEMBERS TAKEN IN BY AUXILIARY

The American Legion Auxiliary took in two new members at the meeting Tuesday afternoon in the club room at the library. These new members are Miss Fern Curtis and Mrs. Ralph Bourne.

The auxiliary constitution has been corrected, and at the next meeting a new year book will be put into use. Also a set of systematized books will be used. The new bookkeeping system will simplify the work of those who have that part of the organization duties in charge.

MAIDS AND MATRONS HOLD OPEN SESSION
About fifty ladies enjoyed the open session of the Maids and Matrons' Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club which was held in part of the palm room of the club house Tuesday afternoon.

Following a short business session the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Mary Miller, lectured on art as applied to the home. Color slides were used to illustrate the theme and these were shown in the auditorium.

Mrs. Mae Rosenberg and Mrs. S. E. Ross were hostesses of the day and refreshments were served at the close of the program.

Chapter A. H. of the P. E. O., of which Mrs. A. W. Beach is president, held an all-day meeting Tuesday at which philanthropic sewing followed a business session. Lunch was served at noon, the hostesses of the day being Mrs. Hal Davenport, Mrs. Abbie Webster and Miss Lillian Webster.

G. O. Russell, wife and baby, arrived from New York City this morning and are guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Russell, 122 N. Central. Mr. Russell has been in business in the country's metropolis for ten years past, but the lure of California could no longer be resisted. He will engage in business here or in Los Angeles but expects to make his home in Glendale. His brother, L. W. Russell, of the Russell-Pierce Manufacturing company, as well as his parents, have been importuning him for some time to come out to California and rejoice that they have at last succeeded.

MRS. KEMPER NOMLAND ENTERTAINS AT LUNCHEON
Mrs. Kemper Nomland and Mrs. George Squires entertained with a 1 o'clock luncheon this afternoon at the home of the latter, 333 Riverdale drive, the members of the Riverdale Luncheon club. They were assisted by Mrs. Nomland's mother, Mrs. Alice Barrington. Those present included Mrs. Barton Manber, Mrs. A. W. Colby, Mrs. Merrill Russell, Mrs. W. N. Stamps, Mrs. P. O. Lucas, Mrs. Yost, Mrs. A. S. Chase, Mrs. William Farlander, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Scott. The color scheme of lavender and white was carried out in decorations of lilacs.

PROGRAM OF P.T.A. MUSICALES IS SPLENDID

The program of the P.T.A. which had been announced previously for April 6 was held this afternoon at the Central School. Through a general mix-up of the P.T.A. calendar this mistake in the announcement of the dates was made. When it was discovered the members of the association had slips with the correct date and announcement made, which they sent home yesterday by the pupils of the Central school. So most of those who planned to attend this affair on the sixth were notified through their children.

A speaker was not secured, but an instructive and helpful round-table discussion took place before the musical program, which was in charge of Mrs. Constance Braasch. This musicale was one of the finest presented in local club circles.

Lillian Gregory played "The Tarantella" in A minor, by Priscilla Fisher; Olga Griffin played the "Indian Love Song" by Homer Grunn; and Miss Constance Braasch interpreted Chopin's Nocturne in F, No. 5, masterfully. The Junior Music Club, of which Mrs. Braasch has been an adviser and director for four years, gave a delightful dance from the comic opera, "Chimes of Normandy."

MUSIC CLUBS WILL ATTEND CALIF. CONVENTION

The Thursday Morning Music club meeting, which was to take place at the home of Miss Leora Johnston, 157 North Central avenue, April 12, has been postponed so that members of that club can attend the California Federation of Music clubs at Santa Ana on that date. This is a yearly convention of all musical organizations in the state, and a wonderful program of prominent speakers, and reports of work in all parts of California will be given.

The Junior and Juvenile Music clubs will attend this convention as well as the Thursday Morning club. Many of those who plan to attend will drive over early and spend the entire day in Santa Ana.

CARD PARTIES
The series of card parties which the American Legion Auxiliary is planning to hold at the homes of various members of the organization, will not start until the second week in May. The first of these will take place at the home of Miss Katherine Bessolo.

'MYSTIC CIRCLE' IS PICTURESQUE SIGHT

Martolf's Merry-Go-Round, alias the "Mystic Circle," the cement waiting station located in the center of the city, at the intersection of Colorado boulevard and Central avenue, will present a spectacular appearance if plans of the American Legion Auxiliary progress satisfactorily. On Monday night the city trustees will be petitioned for the use of this huge cement circle as a candy booth in which the ladies of the auxiliary wish to hold a huge sale of home-made sweets on April 27 and 28.

The sale will start on a Friday night and continue over Saturday, if the candy holds out. Each lady of the auxiliary will provide ten pounds of sugar, and all will join in making the candy, meeting at the homes of the club members for afternoons of fudge-beating and taffy-pulling. There will be a large selection of sweets, so all will find satisfactory filling for the "sweet tooth."

And the biggest feature of the whole sale will be the vote presented to each purchaser of a ten-cent bag of candy to be used in electing a May queen who will reign at the American Legion May Festival Dance.

The queen selected through these votes will be crowned at the dance. There are no restrictions as to candidates as yet, but several young ladies have signified their intention of putting up a strong campaign for the honor of reigning at the May court. The campaign will be wholly financial as votes can only be purchased through the candy sale.

The "mystic circle" will be decorated with flags and bright streamers, the American Legion men assisting with this work, if the plans of the ladies meet with the favor of the city officials.

The May festival at the Central School will take place on the same day of the candy sale, so many persons who attend there are expected to stop at the unique candy booth for their bags of sweets.

HOUSE OF DAVID IS CHARGED WITH FRAUD
[By Associated Press]

LANSING, Mich., April 4.—Formal charges that the Israelite House of David colony at Benton Harbor, is based upon a "foundation of deceit, immorality and fraud," were filed in the county circuit court today by Andrew B. Dougherty, attorney general for Michigan.

The attorney general alleges the colony "is not and never has been a corporation for religious and ecclesiastical purposes, but on the other hand has a true object of enrichment of Benjamin Purnell and his elevation to the rank of temporal king and the establishment within the state of a kingdom, whose king and his subjects are, or eventually shall be, free and independent of the civil power of the state."

MINSTREL SHOW DE LUXE TO BE GIVEN AT 1ST METHODIST
A minstrel de luxe will be given Friday evening, April 6, at the First Methodist Episcopal Church. The entertainment will be given by the young men's Baraca class in the social hall at Kenwood and Wilson at 8 o'clock. No admission fee will be charged but a silver offering will be taken.

SONS OF VETERANS APPROVE AMENDMENT
The Sons of Veterans and the Woman's Auxiliary passed resolutions at their meetings last night favoring amendment No. 7, which will be voted on next Tuesday and which has to do with the sale of certain ground by the city of Glendale to the American Legion. Lieutenant Griffin of the Police Department, addressed the organizations in favor of the amendment.

HIGH GIRLS START BASEBALL PRACTICE
Girls at Glendale high school started baseball practice by squads. In another week class teams will be picked. Tryouts are in progress to select five more members of the girls' tennis club. A tennis tournament among its own members is now in progress and its best players will probably be picked for the school team.

CITY TEACHERS TO HOLD BANQUET
The City Teachers' club of which Miss Carrie Noble, principal of the Wilson Avenue school is president, will have a banquet in the auditorium of the chamber of commerce, April 20th, at 7 o'clock, at which members and a few guests will be entertained. The program will include after-dinner speeches and music.

ROTARY CLUB PROMISES SEVEN ARRANGES FOR CONFERENCE

Burbank Members Will
All Attend Pasadena Convention

Because the Burbank Rotary club always does everything in a hundred per cent way, they plan to attend the Rotarian conference at Pasadena, Thursday, a hundred per cent strong. This was the agreement made at the Rotarian luncheon Tuesday noon at the Good Fellows club.

A. C. Fillbach will be sent by the club to the national convention to be held in St. Louis, June 18. This and the acceptance of the luncheon invitation of the Glendale Rotary club formed part of the round table talk following the luncheon.

The Glendale Rotary club, represented by Dan Kelly, at the Tuesday meeting invited the Burbank club to be their guests at the Hotel Maryland in Pasadena Thursday noon.

gave a short talk on Rotary membership. After that the members practiced Rotary club songs.

RADIO FANS WILL PROMOTE NEW PROJECT

Suggest Idea of Broadcasting Burbank News
Every Week

Burbank residents interested in radio and in the welfare of the town met last evening at the Palais Majestic. Burbank should have a radio program every week was the theme of the conference. Messrs.
Pfeister, Sinclair, Barton, Wilbur and Wilson were the speakers.
The speakers suggested that one of the best advertisements for Burbank would be the broadcasting of a good program from some Los Angeles station one evening in every week. The moral support and interest of every one, old and young, rich and poor, was solicited. Radio fans were most enthusiastic about the idea and were glad to boost it along.

Burbank Merchants Will Stage Second Annual Exposition

The Carlton Exposition company has issued the following letter:

Burbank, Calif., April 2, 1923.
To the Merchants of Burbank:
We, the Carlton Exposition company, are glad to be able to make the announcement that your chamber of commerce has signed a contract with us whereby we are to assist you in conducting your second annual Merchants' exposition and fair at Home week. The dates this year are May 5 to 12 inclusive, except Sunday—seven big days and nights.

You are all familiar with the success of your first Merchants' exposition held last year; now get together, boost, and make this one a greater, bigger, better one. It is the purpose of your chamber of commerce and the Carlton Exposition company to have the merchants put on a dollar day during the continuance of the Merchants'
exposition.

We will advertise all through the surrounding territory and bring the public to you. Our motto is "Buy at Home," and we want to let your buying public know that you have
"It."

In our tent are spaces for all kinds of merchandise and automobiles, where the merchant can display his goods and come in personal contact with the public.
Thousands of people will visit the exposition during the seven days.
A complete change of program every day and night, the various club nights, the various models which will display all kinds of western apparel from an elevated runway through the center of the tent, the novel way everything is to be arranged, the free prizes, the music and entertainment, assures the return of the public night after night, and assures the merchant of patronage.

Mr. Carlton or one of his representatives will call on the merchants within a few days and tell you of the proposition. He will have a blue print of the space in which he will be able to tell you of the arrangements made to carry this affair to a complete financial as well as social ending. The cost of the space to the merchant will be the same as last year.

A complete organization will give each merchant every assistance and be ready to identify the experience they have learned by their experience.

Burbank Needs a Parcel Post Delivery Very Badly and Should Have It

Postmaster Coffman
Shows that Town Out-grows Postal Service

Burbank needs a parcel post delivery very badly and should have it, said Postal Carrier James this morning as he delivered three big packages in the block between Olive and San Fernando boulevards.
The town is fast outgrowing the post office building and system because of its rapid development.

More than two hundred packages pile up in an average day and the merchants need a parcel post delivery. If they would sign a petition and send it to Washington they would surely get results, the postman declared.

Saturday there will be an examination held for the position of carrier and for clerk. Postmaster Coffman has four clerks now, two regular and two auxiliary ones, but he needs two more immediately.
The requirements are an eighth grade education. The pay is from $1400 to $1800 a year. The substitute will get 60 cents an hour.

When the new subdivisions and tracts in the foothill district are completed and sidewalks are put in, there will be still a greater need for carriers.

Burbank Builders Fail to Burbank building permits for Tuesday, issued by Building Inspector Elmer Dale were: John Dietrich, 606 Palm avenue, garage, $200; Daniel McNeill, 708 Magnolia avenue, $1200; P. M. Anderson, 630

Walnut avenue, $3000; Mason &
Hanna, 124 W. San Fernando, $1027.

This record falls short of the first day's amount, for Monday's permits were $2,375 more; but the total for the two days makes a good showing in the eyes of the Realty board.

MUSIC MEMORY CONTEST
SCRAP BOOK CLIPPINGS
Mendelssohn, Felix 1809-1847—Midsummer Night's Dream. Mendelssohn was born in Hamburg in 1809. His mother taught him music and his father had supervision over his general education. Even when he was away from home on banking business he wrote letters to each of his children concerning their daily routine.

In one he wrote "Felix must diligently practice swimming, but only in swimming school. In later years he was a good swimmer, a good rider, an expert with the drawing pencil and paint brush."

A careful study of the career of Mendelssohn and his sister show how important it is even to the most pronounced talent to work systematically and continually to reach mastery.

At eight years old Felix played the piano well. At 15 he had written operas. In 1829 he went to London where he made a success as an organist and pianist.

His greatest work, it is said, is "Elijah," which was produced in London in 1846. He died in Leipzig, 1847.

Gioacchino Rossini—William Tell Overture. One of the greatest of Italian opera composers. Born in Pesaro, Italy, 1792; his mother was an opera singer and his father a musician. He studied piano at 7 years; at 16 he wrote a cantata.
His first opera, "The Barber of Seville," was produced in 1812 and produced five light operas.

In 1816, at the age of 24, he produced his finest of comic operas,
"The Barber of Seville." In the next eight years he wrote twenty operas. His masterpiece is William Tell, which he wrote while managing a theatre in Paris. He wrote his famous Stabat Mater in 1832.
He died in Paris in 1868.

JOINT ONE MORE
ASSOCIATION

Help the Nation Celebrate Centennial of Arbor Day

The Daily Press received the following letter from the American Tree association, which shows that you can join one more organization.

Editor, Daily Press,
Burbank, Calif.

Greetings to Burbank and all the good tree planters. With this I am sending you an application blank for membership in the American Tree association. The only way to join this association is to plant a tree and this you have done. We welcome you to membership in the great tree planting army.

Our call to celebrate the centennial of Arbor day in 1972, fifty years before it happens by planting the trees now, is meeting with remarkable response throughout the nation. California has done a big work and we are getting a fine registration from that state. Let the good work continue.

Very sincerely yours,
CHARLES LATHROP PACK.

Truths in Epigram

When any calamity has been suffered, the first thing to be remembered is how much has been escaped. — Samuel Johnson.

We must laugh before we are happy, or else we may die before we ever laugh at all. — La Bruyere.

A jest loses its point when the jester laughs himself. — Schiller.

STRONG MEN NEEDED

The belief that Capt. John D. Fredericks is precisely the type of man needed to represent California in congress found expression the instant the possibility of procuring his services had been mentioned. The announcement that he was willing to accept the trust was hailed with an enthusiasm that fairly might be termed joyous. The withdrawal of some prominent candidates, who declared they had no desire to impair the chances of electing Fredericks by a big majority, was regarded as politically fitting, and as a personal act, unselfish and fine.

It matters little to a resident of southern California whether he lives in one congressional district or another. The resident of the Ninth has no vote in the Tenth, but nevertheless is as greatly concerned over the proper selection in that district as in his own. The congressman whose interests were not wider than his district would be poor legislative material. Big men are wanted, capable of striving for the welfare of the whole state. Naturally the activities of any congressman, however broad his views, will be drawn to the benefit of his locality.

There are important questions affecting California, in some of them the future of the commonwealth being at stake. There is the alien immigration problem, and the matter of coast defense. Great projects of reclamation are likely at any time to be considered by congress. It has been the habit of the east to overshadow the west, and to minimize the importance of western social and industrial conditions. To make the truth known, and having made it known, to defend it and fight for it, is the duty of a California congressman. It is to the performance of such duty Capt. Fredericks is known to be admirably adapted.

THE FIRE MENACE

There are forest fires every year. This year conditions are particularly threatening. The fall of rain has been so far below normal that already the timber is tinder-dry. The slightest blaze is likely to develop into a sweeping and destructive sea of flame. Most fires, as everybody knows, are due to carelessness. Campers leave the embers to be fanned, and carried into the dead leaves by the wind. Or they drop burning matches with no thought of results. Perhaps they throw cigar and cigarette butts away without glancing to see where the sparks alight. But there are not enough of these undesirable campers to account for the fires that have started in so soon and so disastrously. Comparatively few fires begin through spontaneous combustion, although this is a possible explanation of some. The conclusion that incendiaries are guilty of part of the mischief, hardly is to be avoided. Curious as it may be, there is a type of men so low, and so filled with hatred, that they are ready, in mere wantonness, to destroy any property that offers them the chance. It may be property in the form of homes or industrial plants, or it may be the beautiful and useful woods, so necessary to the welfare of humanity.

The menace of forest fire seldom has been so great as it is now. The federal government is accused of keeping too few rangers on guard. This places a greater responsibility on local authorities. It goes without saying, that no precaution should be neglected.

TOO MUCH DUALITY

Only the other day the murder of a New York girl brought to light the fact that her patron and angel was a Philadelphia financier of most respectable connections. He had, in fact married, with considerable pomp, into the greatest fortune of the Quaker city. The revelation that he had been leading a double life, was of course, embarrassing. That he should in any way, however remote, be connected with the murder of a Broadway type of butterfly, doubtless surprised his friends, or even pained the more sedate among them.

There is no probability that anything in particular will be done about the matter. However, such incidents are demoralizing. The double life habit is not pleasing to contemplate. The prevalence of it tends to make society feel insecure. If a man of standing really is not what he pretends to be, what is he? He may be sure, however, that if discovered, he will be judged by the one of his two lives that he had kept concealed. This will be the case even when he has money and influence to bring about an apparent ignoring of his disgrace.

Since the exposure in question, a prominent New Yorker has been shot in his office by a woman. Not his wife, she had become indignant upon discovery that he had a wife. Having killed him, she killed herself, quite the usual climax to such relationships; just one more showing that the double life is to be pursued only at peril of the pursuer.

INCREASE OF VALUES

A corner in Los Angeles, purchased three years ago for $700,000 has just been sold at a valuation of $2,000,000. As such matters go, the increase is not extraordinary. It is, on the other hand, quite in keeping with the general trend. The organization that sold this holding for $700,000 received for the property at least ten times the sum it had invested a few years before. The incident is singled out of many to show that opportunities for investment are as great as ever, and as an indication of the sort of growth that is taking place throughout the community. In the smaller cities surrounding Los Angeles, activity is relatively as great. There is not one of these places that does not present the visible evidence of prosperity. The population is increasing so rapidly that to provide it with housing accommodations requires the utmost constant effort. There is involved the necessity for business structures of every class, from factories to theaters, schools and churches. All the time industrial life is expanding. Southern California, once regarded as a resort for tourists, and the center of citrus production, a pleasure ground and little else, retains all the old characteristics. To them is being added manufacturing, widened production, a vast growth in industrial activities. The Pacific side of the United States is assuming an importance never dreamed of in the old days. In large measure the new development is in the south. The enhanced value of urban realty is a mere symptom of conditions that impress the shrewd observer.

The old tale that city workers of the future are to dwell on the mountain tops, and fly to their jobs, has been revived. It is due to appear about once in so often. Of course it is meaningless. If physical obstacles could be overcome, there would remain the fact, rather important in this connection, that nobody desires to live on the mountain top.

A woman nearly always gets her impressions wrong end first.

One Result of Arrogance

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Recently my husband and I were walking down the street behind a heavy set, quiet looking man. Suddenly without sound or warning a big automobile dashed out of an alley and missed the quiet looking man by a fraction of an inch. As the wheels struck the pavement the burly young man at the wheel gave the horn an insolent honk, but the car crossed the sidewalk completely before it slowed down.

"Why didn't you blow your horn?" asked the man whose garments had been brushed by death.

"I did," said the boy at the wheel, and he said it with amazing insolence.

The man whose death he had all but caused replied without noticeable heat:

"You did not, that is, not until you were out of the alley. Why don't you obey the traffic regulations?"

"It's none of your business," snapped the boy from the shelter of his big car.

"It is my business," rapped back the man. "You are driving in a city, not along a country lane."

With that the boy's face grew black and ugly and he whirled and ran the car close to the sidewalk, threat in every line of his face and every movement of his big, insolent muscles. Clearly he was looking for a fight; and he needed a thrashing so greatly that I hoped he would get it.

He called to the man he had so nearly run down and ordered him to wait.

"My husband seldom comments on people's actions," he said.

"That boy is out hunting trouble."

"He is," I agreed, "and he has as much moral right to drive that car as he has to flourish a pistol in the faces of the citizens along the streets. He will kill somebody soon and even that will teach him nothing. He is 99 per cent pure bully and there is no law against his rushing about the streets imperiling the lives of people."

Now, why, in granting licenses to drive automobiles should not the character of the applicant be considered? Is a bully ever a safe person to trust with an automobile? Every bully is a potential murderer for he thinks of nothing but his own desires, his own insatiable arrogance.

In every particular the driver of that machine was in the wrong. He had disregarded the traffic regulations; he had almost killed a fellow citizen and he had no feeling in the matter except one of rage that he was criticized.

Back of much of our automobile killing is a spirit of arrogance. Drivers try to beat the law, to beat the trains, they try to beat each other and with no better reason than to enjoy the sense of power that defiance gives them.

Boys such as the one who drove that machine are near lunatics and they should be carefully and securely locked up.

As a matter of simple justice why should not those who kill with automobiles be punished as murderers, provided, of course, the accident was avoidable? Flourishing an automobile is no different from flourishing a pistol.

THE RIGHT WORD

THE BUSINESS LETTER

(Find the error in this article)

Pause for a minute tomorrow and ask yourself the following questions:

"What is a business letter?"

"If you are an employer, you have, probably answered a somewhat similar question about each person working for you, i. e., 'Why do I pay them wages?'"

A letter is also an employee of yours, a worker, and should show cause for being in your service.

An employee should be prompt, efficient, a hard worker from the beginning of his day's work to the end, honest, direct, free of all unproductive motion, courteous to your customers, and worthy to be your representative. Your business letter should have the same characteristics. It should be mailed promptly, and be not only efficient but also a hard worker for you from beginning to end. It should be honest, direct, and concise, and always courteous to your customers. Above all, remember that it says decisively to the recipient, "I am Blank & Company."

"Have you read that latest nondescript novel I spoke of the other day?"

"You mean that indescribable and odd novel you mentioned at the nondescript dinner we both attended?"

"Yes. And you're quite right. The dinner and the novel were alike in at least two respects; they were both indescribable and; they were nondescript."

Query

"Is it correct to say, 'Let you and me follow their example,' or 'Let you and I follow their example?'" asks James Yenoham, of Chicago. Then he follows this query with, "Is it correct to say, 'I beg to differ from you,' or, 'I beg to differ with you?'" and, "Does the word differ properly mean to disagree? In the first place, 'Let you and me follow their example' is correct. One power may differ from another, and a person may, in sentiment or opinion, differ from you or with you."

THE LISTENING POST

By JAMES W. FOLEY

Confucius was a man of great wisdom. A philosopher and teacher. And though he lived five hundred years before the Christian era, his wisdom is wisdom today.

Because wisdom is always wisdom.

There is no out of date wisdom or second hand wisdom or wisdom that ceases to be wisdom.

Wisdom is the expression of truth.

And truth does not change.

Truth has always been truth, always is truth and always will be truth.

Truth is the one thing in the universe that is unchanging and unchangeable.

The shapes of planets may change. The earth may grow a bit more flattened at the poles.

The distance of the planets may vary slightly.

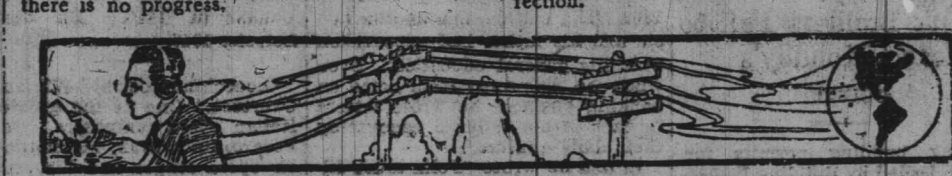

The orbits of the planets may change. The sun's heat may vary. But truth is unchanging.

The seasons have their variations. The days are variable.

The ocean tides are subject to change. Science changes its deductions. Because science is merely seeking the truth. It does not always claim to have discovered it.

So when science learns that its theories are in error, it discards them and seeks new ones in concord with truth.

And then what is truth? Truth is merely the ultimate, beyond which there is no progress.

Songs of the Poets

About Ben Adhem—By Leigh Hunt.

About Ben Adhem (may his tribe increase!)

Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace.

And saw, within the moonlight in his room

(Making it rich, and like a lily in bloom),

An angel writing in a book of gold.

Exceeding peace had made Ben Adhem bold,

And to the presence in the room, he said,

"What writest thou?" The vision raised its head,

And, with a look made of all sweet accord,

Answered, "The names of those who love the Lord."

"And is mine one?" asked About. "Nay, not so,"

Replied the angel. About spoke more low,

But cheerily still; and said, "I pray thee, then,

Write me as one that loves his fellow-men."

The angel wrote and vanished. The next night

It came again, with a great wakening light,

And showed the names whom love of God had blest:

And, lo! Ben Adhem's name led all the rest!

WHAT IS A BEAUTIFUL WOMAN?

By DR. FRANK CRANE

MRS. HOWARD CHANDLER

CHRISTY, wife of the artist, said the other day,

"Really beautiful women make few mistakes in dress."

This is equivalent to saying that if you are a beautiful woman you are a beautiful person, and if you are not you are not.

There is some truth in this. Also some question as to whether we have properly interpreted Mrs. Christy's remark. Anyway, beauty is as mysterious as it is satisfactory.

One of the popular musical comedies of this season was "The Clinging Vine." It was about the only comic opera I have seen since the days of Gilbert and Sullivan that had a real story to it. The idea was whimsical and intrinsically funny.

It was about an efficient business woman who went to visit her grandmother, and was expected at a house party to be as charming as a flapper. She didn't know how.

She asked her grandmother why it was that the men did not take to her. When she said she had taught one man how to play golf, and to play chess, and a few other things, the worldly wise older woman remarked that there she had made her mistake, that a woman should never try to teach a man anything, that men were pleased only when they taught women.

Of course, a man learns most things from women, but he never wants to admit it.

When it came to the question of clothes and personal appearance the girl asked her grandmother what it was about a woman that attracts men, whereupon the grandmother replied in an answer that would have done credit to Solomon, "I do not know what it is, but I know it when I see it, and you haven't got it." That is about the sort of thing that charm is.

It is like the flavor of the apple, or the odor of the rose, or the quality of a tune.

The elements of beauty cannot be listed. They are indefinable, evanescent, spiritual, volatile.

You may like her for just "a little way she has," as Shakespeare expressed in his pun, "Anne hath a way," referring to the spell which Mistress Anne Hathaway had cast upon him.

I once made a poem upon this idea in my salad days, when I occasionally committed that sort of crime. Here it is for what it is worth:

I have sometimes thought it was your eyes.

Sometimes your voice

Bade my indifferent heart arise

And make its choice.

I have counted over all your ways,

My sweet, my mate,

To find in which peculiar grace

There lay my fate.

Vain task! I love you, dear, for all you are;

The charm of heaven hangs not upon

Some single star.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Rear Admiral Sims says he is not a speechmaker, and perhaps he isn't. He just says things. Such, really, is the mission of the man who makes speeches, but sometimes an orator loses sight of it. He gets befuddled by his own eloquence. He hurls high-sounding words, forgetting that an idea should accompany them. Sims comes out strong for the idea, and he seems to have plenty of words, selected for their meaning and fitness.

The fact stands out plainly that Sims is not proud of the record of the navy in regard to preparedness. He has been unable to summon up an admiration for the tactics of a Daniels. Naturally there are those who construe this as a personal fling at the ex-secretary, but that view would be unfair. That Daniels knows little of a navy, and that Sims was educated for it, reared in it, and gave it years of valiant and brilliant service must be considered in the forming of a judgment. To take a position hostile to the admiral would be to say that Sims was merely scolding, which is not true. He is giving a warning. He is fortifying the warning by citation of truths of much importance. These truths are disagreeable to those to whom they are seen as accusations; rather disagreeable to others, perhaps, but truth has a distinct value.

The childish attempt to prevent Sims from speaking, it is hoped, will be forgotten soon. Sims makes no secret that he was not pleased with the conduct of men who plotted in favor of Germany in the war. Nationality of the offenders does not matter. They were un-American and he told the world so. That if they don't like it, then, in the old parlance, they are at liberty to lump it, is about the way he has them sized up.

Accounts of the tragic deaths of two wee boys have saddened the people of this end of the state. At this time there is an effort to ascribe their disappearance to the deliberate act of a criminal. There does not seem a valid support for this assumption. Two little playmates wandering at will, their infantile minds set on venture, might have crept into the box where the bodies of the twain were found. To do so would have been a natural impulse. Of course the possibility that the course involved danger could not have occurred to them.

For several days there was a belief that the children had been kidnapped. The grief of parents forced to accept such a theory hardly could be made more intense by any eventuation. It would seem to be close to the limit of human endurance. Even the finding of the lads, bringing the assurance that their sufferings were over, must have been an agony less poignant than the dread of uncertainty.

Two million dollars' worth of jewels worn by the late Edith Kingdon Gould are soon to be on sale. Edith Kingdon left the stage on which she had won high praise, in order to marry George J. Gould. It was not strange that he loaded her with gems.

Now Edith Kingdon Gould is dead, there is a second Mrs. George J. and the man himself is reported as near death in France, while the costly gauds are being hawked in the market place.

'Tis a great world for changes.

It is to be regretted that there should be friction between harbor authorities and the submarine base. Since the beginning of the war the harbor practically belonged to the navy. Now that old friends must part, they should refrain from kicking up a farewell row. At least such would seem to be the suggestion of good taste.

Germans in the Ruhr who decline to work have been ordered to get out. Doubtless the French have considerable of a problem on hand without any complications such as might arise from the presence of hundreds of thousands of loafers.

It is singular that Eugene E. Schmitz, out of the eighteen supervisors of San Francisco, should be the only one to favor reappointment. With his seventeen colleagues, the state constitution does not seem to count.

Schmitz has had a peculiar political career. No need to recite it here. His come-back was unique. He has aspirations for even higher place. And he is a person of singular magnetism.

Many will be glad that the mayor of Los Angeles vetoed the ordinance shooting the pigeons out of Pershing square. The presence of the birds gives pleasure to thousands, and is the most picturesque detail of the park. The harm the birds do might be remedied easily by providing them shelter. They use surrounding buildings as conveniences simply because they have none of their own.

Theorists who declare that cities are virtually to disappear, being destined to become mere work centers, the workers living at great distances, might as well shut up. Cities are growing larger all the time. Nothing has been revealed in human circumstance, condition or prospect, that can check the growth.

WATCHING THE PARADE

BY JOHN PILGRIM

The chief did a few odd jobs on the old bus last week. He jacked this up and shot a little oil here and tightened a screw over yonder. Then he took the old coal burner for a whirl around the block.

"Sure runs fine now," said the chief when he got back. Perhaps a doubt assailed him.

"Seems so to me, anyhow," he said. "Maybe it's just imagination. But if you've got imagination enough it's all right, anyhow."

The chief touched color in that remark. He has imagination enough, has his heart, to keep him happy. But it is under control. During one phase of the present war he found a fellow-man of German descent prodding at him with a bayonet. The chief found it necessary to shoot the prodder and he died in lumps. That sort of thing might inflame your imagination or mine, but it has never worried the chief.

He has a happy-hearted little, woolly dog which tries to climb up his legs and licks his hand persistently every time he sits down. Somehow, the chief's imagination has given that dog all the attributes of a family. His bare den over the garage is a home to him. The few books he thumbs just before he falls asleep each night are a library. His friends are warm friends to him, true friends, friends who would sacrifice time and money and effort in his behalf just as he would for any of them.

"I kind of imagine a lot of things that aren't so," says the chief, with a grin. "But I keep happy that way."

I'd rather have that sort of an imagination than the other sort. Better be happy without a sufficient excuse than be miserable with no excuse at all.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—?

The hawking of pocket gophers in irrigation canal banks causes serious wash-outs resulting in an enormous annual loss to farmers in the irrigation districts of this country.

The average annual per capita cost from fires in this country is $2.36, while Canada loses $3.78 per capita by fire. Spain $1.86, France $0.37, England.

Germany $0.28 and the Netherlands only $0.11.

If half of the 4000 eggs laid by a female salmon developed into females and reached maturity in four years, and this rate should continue from generation to generation, in 32 years there would be 256,000,000,000,000 females, and weighing 463 times as much as the earth.

CALIFORNIANS IN SOCIAL WHIRL OF WASHINGTON

What They Are Doing in the Moving of Things Nationally

WASHINGTON, April 4.—With senators and such rather quieter than usual, one has a chance to catch up a bit on the more harmless types of gossip. What the ladies are doing and why, if as the novelists always find, there is any reason in their actions. By the way, in the re-allocating of seats in the senate chamber for the next session, Senator Hiram Johnson has been given the place formerly occupied by Warren G. Harding, of Marion, Ohio.

Californians are entertaining other Californians in quite a clubby fashion of late. Mrs. William Fitzgerald of Stockton, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, who came to Washington on an anti-dope crusade, was entertained by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, also of California and assistant U. S. attorney general, at dinner in her home on New York street. And she had rather a notable group of women to meet. Mrs. Fitzgerald, among them, Mrs. Maud Parke Wood, Mrs. Harriet Upton Taylor, Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, whom political leaders expect to line up the women in their respective parties. —Mrs. Clara Sears Taylor, woman member of the District of Columbia rent commission and newspaper writer; Miss Mary Anderson, labor organizer; Judge Kathryn Sellers, Judge Mary O'Toole, and Mrs. Helen Gardner. And it's dollars to doughnuts they wound up the evening with Mah-Jongg.

They play it a good deal out at Mrs. Willebrandt's pleasant home on Newark street, in the part of Washington known as Cleveland park, far enough out for the houses to be detached and the occupants to feel that they have room to turn around and enough air to draw a long breath. It isn't a ranch, of course. You know there is a California ranch which Mrs. Willebrandt likes to think of as home. At least it was her retreat from worry and work—and she gets so homesick for it and for the aged parents who are so tremendously proud of their clever daughter.

Curious, isn't it, that there have been no women selected as assistant secretaries of state, war, navy, interior, agriculture, commerce, treasury or labor, but that there should have been two assistant attorneys general and that both should have been from California.

Mrs. Willebrandt is working hard for a separate federal prison for women. She is ready to pull every wire that she legitimately can pull to get action on it. She has seen the president about it and hundreds of lesser personages whose co-operation might be helpful, and she has traveled and made many addresses on the subject. And lately she has been not a little grieved by people who think they're funny when they ask her if she is preparing a retreat for her old age, and assuring her that they don't send people to the federal penitentiary when they arrest them for speeding.

You know, Washington was electrified a little while ago when large headlines proclaimed that the woman attorney general had been arrested for speeding and would have to appear in the police court—and then she forfeited collateral and didn't appear. When reporters sought her out and asked her, she was not very communicative.

"What can you say when they tell you you are going forty miles an hour—even when you're sure you have done nothing of the sort?"

That is an evasive sort of an answer—but her friends are whispering that as a matter of fact, Mrs. Willebrandt was not arrested for speeding; that she was not in Washington when it happened and knew nothing about it until she got back. Then she found the friend to whom she had loaned her car during her absence was arrested and accidentally—fumbling

SCUDDAY SULLIVAN, JUST YEAR AND A HALF OLD, IS YOUNGEST PROFESSIONAL MODEL IN WORLD

Scudday, who was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., eighteen months ago, is considered a perfect model for all kinds of things for which a wide-awake baby's face is needed. He is unusually bright and seems to know just what to do to please the photographer or artist. Although he doesn't boast about it, Scudday has a comfortable bank account.

through pockets for her card, inadvertently drew out one of Mrs. Willebrandt's, and as it was dark did not know what she had given the officer who stopped the car. It made an awkward situation, for Uncle Sam frowns on any impersonation of his officers. And so it seemed simpler for the assistant attorney general to stand the gaff and take the blame. And she had it rather rubbed in—for she is generally known as a stickler for obedience to the letter of the law.

Mrs. George Barnett is supposed share with Mrs. Willebrandt the distinction of having introduced the game of Mah-Jongg to the capital. She has always had a mania for things oriental, and especially for things Chinese. She had quite a notable collection of them—jades, porcelains, ivories, costumes and draperies—down at the commandant's house during the half-dozen years that General Barnett was at the head of the Marine corps, which included the period of the World war. And in her house on Bancroft place, now rented to Mrs. W. D.

Morgan, she had them very carefully installed.

Last summer when she accompanied General Barnett on that much discussed junket of the Naval academy's class of '81 on the Henderson to Japan where the class held its reunion, on Admiral Uriu's invitation as guests of the Japanese Imperial government, she found everybody playing the game. She brought several sets home with her, as well as considerable expertness in playing it. And she promptly introduced it to her friends. General Barnett is now stationed on the coast and they have a house in San Francisco.

Mah-Jongg has already been turned to account by Mrs. Frederick Kohl, who, a few years ago, figured rather frequently in the society columns of San Francisco. She has gotten out a Mah-Jongg score card so simple that a child could keep it and placed it on sale. It may not make her fortune, but at least it will help keep the wolf from the door.

'THE FLIRT' HAS APPEAL TO THE WHOLE FAMILY

New Tarkington Film at T. D. & L. Teaches Interesting Lessons

There is a new photoplay at the T. D. & L. theatre this week that will appeal to everyone. It is a film dramatization of Booth Tarkington's famous story "The Flirt," with which thousands are familiar, as the book was one of the best sellers of its period. This picture is especially recommended for:

Girls like Cora who think that: "It doesn't hurt to flirt if you don't flirt to hurt."

Father like John Madison, who are: "Headed for the poorhouse with the family in high gear."

Mothers like Mrs. Madison, who would:

"Rather do the work herself than fight about it."

"The Flirt" was filmed at Universal City under the direction of Robert Henley. It is offered by Carl Laemmle as the year's most appealing blend of laughter and tears, and lives up to all its advance notices.

Cora tolerated her family. Her father was a shabby old fellow who preferred to be honest rather than rich, and her mother was a gentle old lady who would rather do the dishes herself than ask Cora to spoil her manicure.

Then, too, there was Laura, the sister; Jim, the older brother; Hedrick, the little pest of a kid brother; Sam, the brother-in-law who ceased being a plumber when Cora thought up the title, "Sanitary engineer," and as many suitors as Cora could keep out of fist-fights on the veranda.

GIFTS TO UNIVERSITY EXCEED $1,165,000

Additions to endowment funds and gifts for current use amounting to between $1,165,000 and $1,200,000 in value, received by the University of California since March 23, 1922, were read by President David P. Barrows at the annual Charter Day exercises held in the Greek Theatre.

The gifts ranged in size from $1 to $500,000 and represented some 220 benefactions. In addition to gifts of specific sums, there have been received many valuable accessions to library, laboratory and museum facilities.

Twenty years ago or so there used to be a story of a negro boy who refused to carry a grip uptown for a travelling salesman.

"Give you a quarter," offered the salesman.

"I got a quarter, boss."

The same little darky, now grown was encountered by a Kansas City man on a dark street the other night. The darky, we regret to say, was wiggling and wobbling along, quite well "corned." As there was no one about, the Kansas City man shied to the edge of sidewalk, giving the darky plenty of room.

"Nev' mind, mister," the darky assured him. "I ain't gonna hold you up. I got as much money as you have."

The purpose of our Organization is to assist the 10,000 wage earners, salaried people and others of Glendale and vicinity to properly finance themselves.

UNTIL A FEW YEARS AGO PERSONS IN THE UNITED STATES WITHOUT PROPERTY or gilt edge collateral, regardless of how good their character or how great their earning ability, had no credit in a business sense. If credit was extended to them it was given as a personal favor. They could cast their ballot and contribute their portion of tax levies, but they could not borrow a dollar without paying the Loan Shark's ruinous rate of interest or applying to some charitable loan agency.

THE PEOPLE'S FINANCE AND THRIFT COMPANY OF GLENDALE was created to meet the demands of these people. The company is officered and managed by some of Glendale's best business men and financiers. They will confine their efforts to the financing of the wage earners, salaried people and others of Glendale in sums of from $25 upwards, at 6 per cent plus a nominal fee for investigations and clerical service. Repayments may be made in small weekly, semi-monthly or monthly payments to suit the borrower.

LOANS WILL BE MADE ON THE BASIS OF CHARACTER AND EARNING ABILITY. No assignments of wages nor pledges are demanded. No publicity or unnecessary delays.

IF YOU'RE HONEST AND NEED MONEY FOR ESSENTIAL PURPOSES, a call at our institution will solve your problem for you. You will be placed on the same financial basis that the business man enjoys through his banking connections, and can borrow the money you need at a reasonable rate of interest.

IF YOU DO NOT NEED TO BORROW, MAKE YOUR MONEY WORK FOR YOU. Our Investment Certificates are SAFE and are redeemable in CASH. They pay you 6 per cent for your idle money. They may be purchased either for cash or on the installment plan. Interest payable semi-annually. Come in and let us explain this feature to you.

MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS WAS LOANED TO WAGE EARNERS in the United States by similar institutions during the year 1922, with a loss ratio of less than one-tenth of one per cent. This firmly establishes the fact THAT "CHARACTER PLUS EARNING ABILITY IS A PROPER BASIS OF CREDIT."

YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED TO CALL AS A PATRON OR A GUEST. Further information cheerfully furnished upon application.

SOFT DRINKS FROM RAISINS

Raisinade, a new soft drink developed in the Fruit Products Laboratory of the University of California, is a delicious thirst-quenching beverage containing the essence of raisins' health-giving properties.

Raisinade is made of raisins and Orange and lemon juice. It can be made in any soda water bottling establishment or any soda water fountain. Seeded Muscat raisins are leached with water to give a syrup of rich Muscat flavor. Orange and lemon juices are made into syrups by adding sugar. The three syrups are blended, mixed with carbonated water, and served as a fountain drink or in bottled form as a bottled carbonated beverage.

The new drink has been christened "Raisinade" by the inventors, W. V. Cruess, associate professor of fruit products, and J. B. Brown, a graduate assistant in the Fruit Products division. It is approved by prohibition officials, according to the inventors.

"But, madam, you will have to be identified before I can cash this check for you," said the paying teller.

"Oh, I just hate to do it, and George would be dreadfully angry," declared the fair caller, blushing furiously. "But I have a love letter which describes me so fully, if you would care to see it."

THE CHRISTIAN TO CLOSE TONIGHT AT GLENDALE

Sir Hall Caine's story of "The Christian" has as vital an application to the life of today as it had when first published more than a quarter of a century ago. This was proved this week at the Glendale theatre where Goldwyn presented its big super-feature based on the story of the Christian, directed by Maurice Tourneur. Both producer and director deserve the thanks of the picture-going public for the splendid mounting, casting and directing of the picture. It is one of the fine film events of the year and should not be overlooked by anyone seeking an entertaining film story, or a picture that stands out for the art and intelligence which were brought to bear upon its production. It will finish the run tonight.

Tourneur is known as one of the most capable directors in the business and he has put every bit of his knowledge and technical skill into making "The Christian." If he had done nothing else he would rank at the top of his profession from this picture alone. With his technical staff and the principal players, Mr. Tourneur photographed the exterior in London and on the Isle of Man to get absolutely correct atmosphere. The author of the novel accompanied him and put his knowledge of Manx manners and customs at the director's disposal.

A crowd of thirsty tourists discovered to their immense disappointment and disgust that their captain was a prohibitionist of the most rabid sort. However, they lived on the thought that the boat must pass an island still untouched by reform. The captain adroitly managed the situation by giving orders that no stop should be made. Two passengers, worse off than their fellows who were speeding by, were brought back at all costs, and dispatched two husky members of the crew to effect the capture. Meanwhile the mate hung over the rail with his binoculars and reported progress. "They are gaining, they are gaining," he exclaimed. "Now they are only a yard behind!" "Have they caught them?" demanded the captain. "Caught them!" derided the mate. They've passed them! Ah! They are all on shore."

Never write a popular novel. The public will expect you to do it again.

AFTER SCHOOL

"Wait for me after school," he said. His freckles were big and his hair was red. His trousers patched and his head was bare. And so were his feet in the dust back there. "It may be late when I come," said he. "But I'll meet you right here by the apple tree. So if you get out a little ahead. Wait for me after school," he said.

And so they went in the school room door. With sums and lessons to get once more. With book and lesson and task and rule. And pledged to meet again after school. And well I remember the time myself When I got my hat down off of the shelf. And darted off to the old dead tree Where a schoolboy chum was awaiting me.

And well I remember the hours so glad. The hours that after school we had. With books forgotten and sums laid by. Just a careless world and my chum and I. And always we waited out there before The time for school at the schoolhouse door. With visions of clover and wood and pool—"Remember to wait for me after school."

"Wait for me after school!"—Old Chum, When the sun is low and the shadows come, When the books are learned and the tasks laid by, And the sums are done and the ink is dry On the copybook, and the schoolroom door May close for one of us evermore, If I am late, hear my simple prayer: "Just wait for me after school—somewhere!"

WE WOMEN

By BETTY BRAINERD

ON GAMBLING The news comes across, the ocean from Glasgow that the mill owners there will no longer employ women who indulge in betting. It is asserted that women are bad losers, and that the betting spirit generates trouble among them and eventually affects their capacity for work.

But are women bad losers? Are they worse losers than men? I once went to a ball game, and when the umpire gave adverse judgment to an idol of the diamond the idol picked up a handful of dirt

BABE RUTH AS A HIGH-PRICED WRITER

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 4. — Among those great sport celebrities who have turned literatists, Babe Ruth, the swatter, is one of the most prominent. The Bam is not only the high priced man playing ball, but he is the highest salaried man writing baseball, if his terms haven't been reduced since 1921.

Not only that, but the Babe on his 1921 rate for wordage is the highest priced writer in the world. In the spring of 1921, when Ruth's name began to have commercial value, he was hired by a press association to describe after every home run just how he did it, what kind of a ball it was and all the exciting details. He signed a contract for a flat sum of $1000 with a bonus of $5 for every home run. The Bambino hit 54 homers and that ran him up to $1270, and the Babe's only contribution all season to his editor was one wire on the first trip to Boston, which read: "Low fast one outside." "Babe." The rate is $254 a word, and it's as good a record in its line as 59 homers.

gambled with him. Without the support of Queen Isabella Columbus would not have been able to make much headway.

Clearly, human nature thrives upon adventure, and gambling, regardless of its form, is adventure. We buy a dress which we like and wonder if we have made a good bargain. It is a question, in the last analysis, of winning or losing.

Bridge was never more popular with women than it is now. Women also play poker, and I am told that some of them shoot craps. Others go to the races and bet on the horses.

Are they worse losers than men? A recent divorce case which filled columns of newspaper space day after day for months comes to my mind. The man was a millionaire. He was admittedly at fault. His wife appeared at least to have been extremely indiscreet. The man was the aggressor. He brought suit against his wife and lost.

But he refuses to abide by the verdict. He has appealed. He had previously been convicted in the minds of men and women alike. He was a bum sport—an exception to what may be regarded as a rule—that men and women win and lose alike with equal grace.
